Summary

On 23rd January 2018, Mallige College of Pharmacy organized a seminar on "Statistical Analytical System Training", at 11.00 am in LH-1 by MrsPadmashree and Mrs Mansi, from EPOCH, Bangalore. They explained about the SAS and its importance in pharmaceutical industry. SAS delivers a range of analytics capabilities to improve your pharmaceutical manufacturing performance so you can deliver safe, effective drugs and other therapies to patients with greater efficiency and confidence. With SAS, you can improve quality, throughput and equipment performance, as well as derive insights from the supply chain to help you improve demand forecasting.

SAS delivers a range of analytics capabilities to improve your pharmaceutical manufacturing performance so you can deliver safe, effective drugs and other therapies to patients with greater efficiency and confidence. With SAS, a pharma industry can improve quality, throughput and equipment performance, as well as derive insights from the supply chain to help you improve demand forecasting.

This SAS pharmaceutical software helps in speed time to market, ensure regulatory compliance and improve decision making.

The session was very interactive and a platform to know more about the software used in pharma industry to increase the productivity. To the students' questions the speakers have answered all of them by guiding them to progress in their carrier.
